When it comes to training for the long-term care (LTC) insurance market, you want the best investment for your time and money. And that's what you get from the America's Health Insurance Plans (AHIP) Center for Insurance Education and Professional Development's Long-Term Care Professional Designation. AHIP, the national association representing approximately 1,300 health insurance plans providing coverage to more than 200 million Americans, is a leader in health insurance education.

Invaluable Training plus an Industry-recognized Designation

- Receive training on several of the Center's full-length LTC courses compressed into an accelerated review workshop—providing you with the essential training you need to earn the Long-Term Care Professional (LTCP) designation in less time and at a lower cost.
- Receive a thorough understanding of such important topics as: payment options, selling, underwriting, the economic impact of LTC and the ways people pay, policy design, regulations, claims administration, the impact of HIPAA, reporting, and more.
- Learn what you need to succeed—understanding consumers' needs and meeting those needs with the best long-term care coverage.

This special offer for obtaining the LTCP designation is only available to those who have already taken a state-approved partnership course.
