Frequently Asked Questions About AHIP's Newest Membership Benefit

What is ICER?

The Institute for Clinical and Economic Review (ICER) is an independent non-profit research institute that evaluates the evidence on the clinical and economic value of prescription drugs, medical tests, devices, and health system delivery innovations.

What is ICER Analytics?

Now offered as a benefit for AHIP Member Organizations, ICER Analytics™ is ICER's cloud-based platform that facilitates the use of ICER's evidence reports and underlying analyses by decision-makers as they develop medical policy, plan drug development, and plan for drug costs.

Comprised of two tools – the ICER Evidence Compendium™ and the ICER Interactive Modeler™ – the platform gives users a customizable way to analyze and apply ICER's value benchmarks, cost-effectiveness results, comparative clinical effectiveness judgements, patient testimony about important benefits and considerations, policy recommendations, and the underlying ICER economic models themselves.

How can I use ICER Analytics in my day-to-day work?

ICER Analytics enables AHIP members to achieve numerous goals:

- Streamline the use of ICER reports in support of internal drug monographs, Pharmacy & Therapeutics committee meetings, and final formulary coverage policies
- Integrate independent value assessment reports into drug-related planning
- Tailor budget impact analyses on the backbone of ICER's economic model
- Perform analyses across all ICER results

Putting ICER Reports to Work for You

Which ICER assessments are available in the Evidence Compendium and Interactive Modeler? How often is the platform updated?

The Evidence Compendium features a rapidly searchable and sortable summary of results from over 40 ICER reports, including each of the assessments from 2018 to present day, as well as select reviews from 2017. The Interactive Modeler provides access to a growing set of over 30 ICER economic models, all of which are customizable by the end user. Both tools are updated with the results and economic models from ICER's final evidence reports once the assessments are completed (about one new assessment per month).
